

Family Promise

of Greater Modesto

It's A Good Year, To Have A Good Year

Open house for Family Promise at the Church of the Brethren in Modesto, Thursday, Jan. 9, 2025.

“Modesto-Area churches took turns housing families. Nonprofit now does it all on one site.”

-The Modesto Bee

You read that right! Here at Family Promise of Greater Modesto our new transitional housing project has made it possible to ensure that families have one place that they come back to, home.

Our Core Values

- Sustained Impact
- Community-Based
- Inclusive
- Equitable
- Strategic Innovation
- Authentic Hospitality
- Empathetic engagement

Family Promise of Greater Modesto is the local part of a nationwide network that provides a specialized and effective program for families with children experiencing homelessness.

Our complex has a Health Hub, which helps residents connect with physical and mental care providers. It soon will add an on-site Head Start program for preschoolers, arranged by the Stanislaus County Office of Education.

Parents can learn job-search skills and household budgeting.

We need your support

Family Promise of Greater Modesto is facing a critical challenge due to the potential loss of federal funding, which currently supports our shelter operations. This funding is essential for us to continue providing necessary services to the many families who depend on us. Without it, we will be unable to maintain our current level of support, and the growing homeless population in our community could face even greater hardship. We are reaching out to our community for support to help bridge this gap. Your assistance, whether through donations, volunteering, or advocacy, can make a significant difference. Each contribution will enable us to continue our mission of helping families find stability and hope. We deeply appreciate any help you can offer during this challenging time, as together, we can strive to reduce homelessness and support those in need in our community.

“Make Homelessness rare, brief, and when it cannot be prevented, a one-time experience.”

Be a part of your community!
